1 Introduction to the Super Elite Support Plan

Colligo is committed to providing the highest level of professional technical support for our products. Recognizing that many enterprises need support beyond the standard level, tailored to their needs, Colligo has created a support plan specifically directed at the business environment. This plan is designed to assist throughout the product lifecycle, starting with the initial deployment, product training and knowledge support for users, through to delivery of upgrades and ongoing enterprise use.

1.1 Support Plan Availability

All subscription plans come with the Silver Support Plan. If you require more in-depth support options, and are willing to commit to assisting the support process, you can add a package of options to enhance the overall user experience.

All support plans require acceptance of a Maintenance and Support Agreement.

1.2 Support Plan Features

The Support Plan is constructed on a number of features. The availability of a feature depends on which plan you are on. These features include:

1.2.1 Access to “Current Product”

To ensure that the maximum functionality and features are delivered to you, you have access to the latest Major, Minor, and Service Pack releases as soon as they are available.

1.2.2 Online Documentation and Support Community

A support web site featuring Documentation, Knowledge Base, and Forum topics posted by the Colligo Community, accelerating learning, use case dissemination, and product adoption.

1.2.3 Support Request Submission via Support Portal

Access to the Support team at Colligo and online management of your support requests. Requests are tracked and logged against your account to ensure issues are resolved.

1.2.4 Issue Management

A senior executive to work with your organization throughout the support lifecycle of your account.

1.2.5 Environment Audit and Certification

An audit to qualify and certify your environment to meet the Service Level Agreement.

2 Terms and Conditions of Support Services

Colligo will provide reasonable technical Support Services as required to successfully resolve any request for assistance in connection with, but not limited to, the use, operation, or business functionality of the Colligo Product(s) for the period of the Agreement.

Each support request or issue will be assigned a Support Request Reference Number, and Colligo will ensure that it maintains the necessary and adequate processes and resources to properly track and resolve the issue to the point that the customer acknowledges that such support issue has been resolved.

Colligo reserves the right to alter or modify the terms and conditions under which it provides technical Support Services, but such changes will not materially affect support provided to existing customers under current support plans.

2.1 Support Service Request Process

Customers will, before contacting Colligo for Support Services, attempt to:

1. Troubleshoot based on Colligo training.
2. Review the Colligo Community and Knowledge Base for possible solutions or known errors: <https://support.colligo.com/support/discussions>.

If the root cause is still not identified and resolvable, then your Colligo Certified Support Contact should proceed with contacting Colligo for Support Services as follows:

1. Report issue via the Support Portal by submitting a support request at: <http://www.colligo.com/support/request>.
2. You will receive a Support Request Reference Number and confirmation by email.
3. The successfully logged support request will be responded to in accordance with the Service Level Agreement for your Support Plan package.
4. If the required information is incomplete, Colligo will ask for the missing information. The support request will not commence its resolution stage until all information has been received and accepted.

2.2 Support Service Delivery

Tickets may be logged 24x7 at our Support Community website. However, all support is provided online from our support location in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada during Pacific Standard Time standard business hours. Additional support outside of standard business hours is not included, unless specifically defined as part of the Support Plan.

2.2.1 In-Hours Support

Standard technical support is available Monday–Friday as follows:

- North America: 9:00 AM ET – 6:00 PM ET
- Europe, the Middle East, and Africa: 8:00 AM GMT – 5:00 PM GMT
- Asia Pacific: 9:00 AM AET – 6:00 PM AET

Support is limited on statutory holidays and weekends.

2.2.2 Out of Hours Support

Colligo recognizes that there are occasions when support may be required outside of Colligo's normal support business hours. Colligo may be able offer specific services (subject to current case loads). Advanced planning and agreement is required for this support. Please contact your account representative or client services group for an advanced quotation. You may also contact Sales at <https://www.colligo.com/contact-sales>.

2.2.3 Support Contacts

You will designate support employees as necessary to be designated "Colligo Support Contacts". All support requests and communication must be via your Colligo Support Contacts.

Colligo will provide Support Services only to your Colligo Support Contacts, who will act as the points of reference for Support Services. Colligo will direct end users to your Colligo Support Contact(s) to obtain first-line support with regards to their issue or question.

Support contacts may be certified by Colligo as a "Colligo Certified Support Contact", provided that those people have undergone training with respect to the Product and support process to the satisfaction of Colligo. Tickets raised by "Colligo Certified Support Contacts" may receive higher prioritization.

2.2.4 Customer Commitment to Colligo

For Colligo to adequately support you, you agree to grant specialized access to your environment, or provide named contacts that can access your environment and provide the necessary information as required by Colligo. The time to access your environment will be deducted from the total time to resolve or fix the issues.

You agree to provide the User Acceptance Test (UAT) response for escalated tickets within one day or Colligo will close the support request as resolved. A new support request will be opened for the closed support request if you determine that the UAT for the closed support request is unacceptable.

Commitment times require your timely response and Colligo may, at their option, deduct customers' response time from the total committed response time due to the following:

- Lack of information required to resolve the problem
- Inability to reproduce the problem using a similar hardware configuration or your server cannot be accessed using the authorization information provided in the technical support request
- Improper use of the Colligo Product
- Incorrect, incomplete, or misleading information
- Failure to follow the established support request procedure

2.4.1 Customer Supported Environments
